Zika's Expanding Range

The Zika virus is expected to begin spreading in parts of the United States as the weather warms. The virus is transmitted by the yellow fever mosquito, which is common in many southern states.

Probable range of the yellow fever mosquito, Aedes aegypti

THE NEW YORK TIMES